

Lansing Road Wrangle In 10th Week; MSC Renaming Tackled

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Legislature goes into its 10th week tonight still wrangling over an old problem—and ready to take on a new one.

The old problem is the improvement of Michigan highways.

The new problem is a change in name and status for Michigan State College.

Legislators reported these two issues have produced more pressure on them than any other this session.

The House is scheduled to tackle the MSC name change bill in debate tonight. It came out of committee Thursday in the form of a bill to allow MSC to change its name to Michigan State University.

Governing bodies of MSC and the University of Michigan have failed to agree on a new name suitable to both and the university vigorously opposes the proposal.

If normal procedures are followed, the House should vote on the name change bill by midweek.

The highway program, still caught in a criss-cross of pressures from trunkline advocates, county road commissions, Republicans and Democrats, northern Michigan versus southern Michigan sympathizers, is due for further action in the House Tuesday.

Then the House will decide whether to accept the substantial changes which the Senate made in the House's original Peltz Bill.

Republican and Democratic leaders worked over the weekend in the hope of securing House action which would not require sending the bill to an inter-chamber conference committee to battle out the divergent views.

In the background, the Legislative appropriations committees grind away at the budget with no indication they will break any records for an early end to their job.

The House Taxation Committee, which has hinted at a new tax program, has yet to show its hand.

Talk of a May 20 adjournment is fading rapidly and now leaders are considering May 27 or June 3.

Dulles Says U. S. May Forego Peace To Guard Liberty

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says the United States may someday again find it necessary "to forego peace in order to assure the blessings of liberty."

"Indeed," he said in a speech Sunday night, "already many are sacrificing and risking much to protect liberty. We must therefore make sure that the liberty which we are prepared to defend at great cost is true liberty." He added:

"That means a liberty which uses and develops those gifts with which man was endowed by his creator. . . .

"The freedom of which we talk does not mean the right to live selfishly. It means that men instead of having to fear other men need fear only God. It means the right freely to pattern one's life in accordance with the dictates of moral law. That is the law which enjoins upon us the golden rule."

Dulles also told a convocation of the United Negro College Fund at the Metropolitan Opera House:

"Peace is the product of many wills, and not merely of one alone. In the past it has been necessary to forego peace in order to assure the blessings of liberty. We dare not be blind to the fact that that may happen again."

Peron Crosses Out Catholic Holidays On Argentina List

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron crossed five religious dates off Argentina's list of national holidays by decree today. He said the holidays were reduced because of the necessity of increasing the nation's production. But the decree coincided with renewed tension between the Peron regime and the Roman Catholic Church.

The holidays eliminated were Epiphany, Jan. 6; Corpus Christi, which this year falls on June 9; Assumption Day, Aug. 15; All Saints Day, Nov. 1; and Immaculate Conception Day, Dec. 8.

Christmas Day and Holy Friday will continue to be observed as holidays. Among the eight others remaining on the Argentina calendar are the July 26 anniversary of the death of Eva Peron and the Oct. 17 Day of Loyalty to Peron.

Churchill To Quit As Prime Minister, British People Told

LONDON (AP)—Britons took it for granted today that Winston Churchill is stepping down as prime minister within weeks. But no one expects him to go into retirement by the fireside.

Only the 80-year-old statesman's political enemies seemed to harbor any suspicions the impetuous Churchill might change his mind at the last minute.

The authoritative, independent Times—which seldom deals in political speculation—said today:

"It now seems increasingly likely that he (Churchill) will resign about Easter" and that Queen Elizabeth II will call on Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to form a new government.

But the anti-Conservative Daily Mirror, which for two years has been calling Churchill too old for the premiership, said people "will not believe he has gone this time until they see the back of him."

Churchill supporters talked of him becoming a sort of "elder statesman of the free world," speaking out on vital issues.

There was talk in parliamentary lobbies that Churchill also would keep his seat in the House of Commons. This would give him a platform and an official status, and would leave him available for any assignment as a special government emissary.

Yalta Papers Will Provide Ammunition For GOP Orators

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today he has taken steps to aid Republican speakers wanting to use the Yalta papers to lambaste their political foes.

Bridges said he has instructed the staff of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which he heads, to compile information from the documents for use by GOP speakers.

"Certainly the Republicans are at liberty to discuss the mistakes that were made at Yalta," he said. "We learned about the tragic results only gradually in the months and years after Yalta."

It was at the World War II conference at Yalta that Franklin D. Roosevelt agreed to Far Eastern concessions to Russia in exchange for the Soviets' speedy entry into the war against Japan.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said it is all right with him if the Republicans want to comb the Yalta papers for political material.

"I am sure they won't find there any of the dynamite they so confidently hope to explode," he said. "In the past they could make all kinds of charges about Yalta. But I think they are going to be limited now, because they will have to cite chapter and verse now that the documents have been made public."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, has called for publication of the records of the 1943 Tehran and the 1945 Potsdam conferences. The latter was attended by former President Truman.

Government officials said privately the furor kicked up by last week's publication of the Yalta papers compels Secretary of State Dulles to take a new look at the program for publishing secret documents on other Big Three meetings.

Dulles and his aides had anticipated a political uproar in the United States. Some informed officials say, however, they had not expected as much of a kickback as they got from abroad.

Lady Bullfighter Kills With Skill

CIUDAD ACUNA, Mexico (AP)—A blonde woman bullfighter from the United States fought hysteria and fatigue Sunday to kill her second bull with such skill she won its ears and tail.

Patricia Hayes, 23, was knocked to the sand six times in fighting two successive bulls. Her second bull was specially unruly, but when the "moment of truth" came she won cheers.

The "moment of truth" is the climax of the bullfight—when matador and bull face each other, then the matador reaches over the dangerous horns to kill the bull by plunging a sword between its shoulders.

Patricia shoved and beat off attendants who wanted her to leave the ring. Gasping for breath, she went into mild hysteria as she poised with muleta and sword for the second bull's final rush.

The snorting bull's headlong run at the slender woman came to a lurching end when Miss Hayes, steady with cape and sword, reached over the horns for the kill. A clamor of bravos rose from the stands in the La Macarena bullring, followed by the rare award of the animal's ears and tail.

The limping girl from San Angelo, Tex., and Pulaski, Tenn., had not fully recovered from a going and mauling she suffered at Acapulco, Mexico, last Jan. 9. That encounter left her with a brain concussion, several broken ribs and serious leg cuts.

French Budget To Run In Red With Income Of Nearly 9 Billion

PARIS (AP)—France's National Assembly has approved a budget anticipating nearly nine billion dollars in government income this year. But with military expenditures still to be figured, the intake is expected to fall about 10 per cent short of spending.

The Assembly approved the measure in a postmidnight session Sunday 392-211. It anticipates an income of 3,080,500,000 francs ($8,800,000,000).

Snowfall Slows Rural Traffic

(By The Associated Press)

The first day of Spring brought a rain-and-winds flood threat and one of the biggest snowfalls of the year to Michigan today.

The confused weather picture also included an electrical storm near Detroit.

Flood threats rose from Lakes St. Clair and Erie. Communities in the Monroe and St. Clair Shores areas were on the alert.

There was no immediate prospect of danger, however.

One of the year's heaviest snowfalls hit the Upper Peninsula's Iron Mountain area, forcing a closing of rural schools with roads tied up.

The snow fall measured 7.5 inches at midmorning. All rural schools were closed. Parents got notification from radio, city and county snowplows worked all night.

For a time schedules of North Central Airlines were off.

Union Safe Robbed

Democrat Victory Needed April 4, Says Gov. Williams

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—Gov. Williams says a "handful" of state Republican leaders "are doing their best to frustrate the will of the people."

Williams told a Democratic rally here Sunday night that only a Democratic victory at the polls April 4 can remedy the situation.

"The mandate of the people as expressed at the polls last fall has been torn up like a scrap of paper by a handful of Republican leaders elected by a minority of the people," Williams asserted.

He accused the same group of keeping the highway program off the spring election ballot in a move to hold down the voter turnout and of trying to scuttle a tax program approved by voters last fall.

And he added that GOP leaders in the House of Representatives did their best to block the school safety bill which provides for annual inspection of school buildings.

Bedsprad Stolen Along With TV Set

DENVER (AP)—Alvin Vigil told police today he lay down on a bed at his home to watch television, dozed off and woke up to find both the TV set and the bedspread gone.

A neighbor, Mrs. Martha Kimble, said she saw three men carrying a suspicious looking box down the street. A bedspread was draped over it, she added.

Postal Worker Pay Raise Bill Heads For Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 150-million-dollar pay raise for postal workers headed toward a House vote today.

In advance of House action, President Eisenhower said he would view with "gravest apprehension" any further additions to the 7½ per cent average increase provided by the postal pay bill.

He noted that the postal increase will set the pattern for 1,200,000 civil service employees. This bill is still in committee.

Can't Afford More

The President's views, contained in a letter Saturday to Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) of the House Post Office Committee, clearly implied a probable veto of any bigger increase.

They also underscored a statement last week by Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission that the government cannot afford more. It already faces the need of financing government-wide employee benefits totaling more than a billion dollars a year, he said. These are raises and other benefits proposed and pending.

Want 10 Per Cent

The House pay bill called for a minimum 6 per cent and an average 7½ per cent raise. It also reclassified pay schedules, with higher new pay grades for some 300,000 carriers, clerks and mail truck drivers.

The administration had proposed a 5 per cent minimum and 6½ per cent average pay hike.

But as the bill came before the House, strong opposition developed among members favoring among other things a 10 per cent figure approved by the Senate Post Office Committee.

Car Mishaps Kill 16 In Michigan

(By The Associated Press)

On the eve of spring, 16 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Michigan.

Two others—a Detroit couple, were killed in an auto accident in Illinois.

A Grand Rapids man and his 6-year-old daughter drowned after they went for a boat ride on rain-swollen Grand River.

In other accidents, 3-year-old Constance Bradford, of Center Line died after she was kicked in the chest by a horse Sunday.

Stanley Grzankowski, 64, of Detroit, was killed in the crash of an American Airlines plane near Springfield, Mo.

Police said Arthur B. De Vries and his 6-year-old daughter, Cheryl, lost their lives Saturday when their 14-foot outboard motor boat capsized in the rain swollen Grand River north of Grand Rapids.

The traffic victims included a teen-ager bound for a Saturday night dance in Fenton in Oakland County.

D-r vid Whiting, 16, of Holly, was killed and five young passengers with him were injured in a two-car collision on M87 near Holly. The five other teen-agers, two boys and three girls, were hurt seriously.

Arrival Of Spring Is Cold And Soggy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spring came cold and soggy to the nation's midlands today after winter's boisterous exit Sunday amid tornadoes, torrential rains, widespread snowfall and flood.

Sunday, officially the last day of winter, brought 3 to 5 inches of snow in Colorado, western Nebraska and western Kansas, with near-blizzard conditions around Loveland, Colo.; a series of tornadoes along the Missouri-Arkansas border; a windstorm so violent it blew down a circus tent at Uvalde, Tex., and a 4-inch rain that flooded Piedmont, Mo.

Today, the first day of spring, saw temperatures drop below freezing as far south as Texas as snow sprinkled the southwestern

Studied By Commission

A special commission created by Eisenhower to study the nation's road needs—it was headed by retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay—last Jan. 11 handed the President a report calling for the biggest road-building program in American history.

It suggested an intensive, 10-year plan for a transcontinental network of high-speed highways. On Feb. 22 Eisenhower sent a message to Congress which followed the Clay commission's reasoning, although he didn't say so exactly.

This was the kind of plan the Clay commission had in mind: Over the next 10 years 101 billion dollars to be spent, 31 billion by the federal government and 70 by state and local governments, or 54 billion more than under the present plan, which figures on a total of 47 billion.

Boon To Politicians

While under the present plan federal money goes into both main and secondary roads, under the

Mother Of 3 Sons Kidnaps Baby Girl In Texas Hospital

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—A woman charged with snatching a 29-minute-old infant from its hospital crib "wanted a baby girl worse than anything in the world," her father said. She has three sons.

Officers found the little girl Sunday in the Houston home of Mrs. Pauline Schulze, 30, a former nurse's aide.

The child was sped by police-escorted ambulance 85 miles back to Beaumont and reunited with its mother before she knew it was kidnapped Saturday—while she was still in the labor room. The news had been kept from her.

Doctors said the baby was in good condition.

Identified By Footprints

Mrs. Schulze was charged with kidnapping and jailed here. Officers said she kept screaming during long hours of questioning. "It's my own baby."

Footprint records identified the child as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton, of Beaumont.

The 30-year-old Mrs. Schulze refused to talk to newsmen. She threw a shoe at photographers taking her picture when she was brought here.

Her father, 71-year-old pensioner J.M. Taylor, said at Houston Sunday night:

"She and her husband had all the boys they wanted—three of them. . . . She wanted a baby girl worse than anything in the whole world."

Disguised As Nurse

Officers said Mrs. Schulze, treated in the same Beaumont hospital in 1951, and 1953 after nervous breakdowns, had been surgically sterilized and could not bear a child. Her father confirmed she is sterile.

A doctor carried the baby into Mrs. Wharton's room.

Wharton, a slender oil refinery worker, said:

"She didn't even know that anything had happened."

"After we talked and joked a while—just ordinary baby talk—I told my wife I had a story to tell her about how her baby spent the night in Houston. Then I handed her a copy of the Beaumont Enterprise."

"She couldn't grasp it, couldn't believe it. We had to start at the beginning and tell the whole story again."

The baby, who weighed 6 pounds 10½ ounces, was kidnapped from its bassinet at East Texas Baptist Hospital here early Saturday afternoon by a woman disguised as a nurse.

Eisenhower Highway Idea Seems To Have Died In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's idea for a super-highway system, recently unveiled, seems certain to be veiled again and put in the attic as an idea which got nowhere. It looks dead in Congress.

There it ran into stony opposition from the first, mostly from the Democrats, the lawmakers will probably vote to continue the present program but boost the amount of money the government spends on it.

Under that present program a total of 47 billion dollars would be spent on both main and secondary roads in the next 10 years. Ten billions of it would come from the federal government, 37 billions from states and local governments.

Clay plan most of the government money would go into superhighways, with the states spending only two billion on them.

The two most vigorous critics of the Clay proposal were Democratic Senators Gore of Tennessee and Byrd of Virginia. The latter, on Eisenhower's side in many money matters, was against him on this.

These were some of the complaints about the Clay plan's 101-billion-dollar idea:

It would give the federal government too much say over the states' highway systems; the proposed method of financing it was "sleight-of-hand"; and it would be a happy hunting ground for politicians.

Of the federal government's 31-billion-dollar share under the Clay plan, 21 billion would be financed by selling bonds through a special government corporation. They'd be paid off in 30 years with an interest bill of 11½ billion dollars.

That would make the government's total cost 42½ billion. And, the critics argued, selling bonds through a government corporation might look like a way out of adding to the government's general debt but wouldn't be at all.

Gore is for holding on to the present system and the supporters of his idea suggest that the government's contribution of 10 billion dollars over 10 years be upped perhaps to 15 billion or a little more. That would still be at least 16 billion less than the Clay commission proposed.

Banquet Opens Soo Centennial

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The centennial celebration of the Soo Locks was opened officially over the weekend at the Marine Homecoming and Centennial Banquet.

The locks, linking Lakes Huron and Superior, were completed in June, 1855. Since then more than four billion tons of raw materials have moved through them.

In the eight-month navigation season on the Great Lakes, the yearly tonnage shipped through the locks moved through the Panama Canal and amounts to nearly one-third more than the tonnage handled through the Suez Canal.

Guest speaker at the banquet was Donald C. Potts of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the Pittsburgh Steamship Division of the U. S. Steel Corp.

Potts predicted that in the next 30 years the locks will see as much business as they did in the first 100 years of their existence.

He based his forecast on increased population and "the expanding economy."

About 1,200 people attended the banquet.

The centennial celebration will continue through the summer and be highlighted by the dedication of the MacArthur Lock, named after Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Plane Plunges In Muddy Field Nearing Airport

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—An American Airlines plane threading its way through darkness and rain toward a landing field crashed Sunday night, killing 12 persons and injuring 23.

The twin-engine Convair crashed in a pasture about two miles north of the Springfield airport. Wreckage was scattered more than 300 feet.

The plane carried a three-member crew and 32 passengers. All the survivors were injured.

Pilot Survives

Jack Pripish, of Chicago, the pilot, was the only member of the crew to survive. Stewardess Rita Madaj of Chicago, and copilot Glenn Walker, of Chicago and Los Angeles, died.

The airport control tower had given final clearance for the landing. As the craft approached Carl McCrary in the tower saw a flash. Then the plane disappeared and he gave the alarm.

Sheriff Glenn Hendrix, one of the first to reach the scene made muddy by an all-day rain, said:

"There was no fire. In the darkness I found it hard to find the plane and I lost my shoes in the mud as I crossed the farm field."

"Then I heard a woman call and I found her sitting on the ground. I gave her my coat and then I saw three persons walking around dazed. I finally could see the plane in the darkness."

Nose Crumpled

"Its wings were sheared off but the fuselage was intact except for the nose."

"The nose was crumpled up like cellophane."

"Two ambulances came near the scene but got stuck in the mud. We started taking out the injured as other ambulances arrived but it was close to 1 a.m. before we got them all out."

The plane crashed about 10:30 p.m.

Robert Browning, 15, of Chappqua, N.Y., an injured passenger, said there was a "terrible vibration" before the crash.

Mrs. O. W. Peebles, who lives near the scene, reported hearing an explosion just before the crash.

"I was on a clipper plane last summer and I read some instructions on what to do in case of a crash," Browning related. "They said to put your head down between your knees. And I did that when I felt the vibration. The next thing I knew I was lying on the ground about 15 feet from the plane."

Spring Arrives With Snowfall

Spring officially arrived in Escanaba and the surrounding area this morning with a heavy snowfall. Five inches of new snow fell last night and this morning and although the snowfall stopped by late morning, more snow is forecast for tonight and Tuesday.

An additional four to seven inches of new snow is anticipated tonight, S. E. Decker, U. S. meteorologist here, reported.

The snowfall was general in the northern tier of states and extending as far south as southern Kansas.

The high temperature Sunday was 35 degrees in Escanaba and the low this morning was 24. Precipitation, all in the form of snow was .33 inch.

The record high for this date in Escanaba was 64 degrees, established in 1918 and the record low was a miserable 25 degrees below zero in 1885.

City and county plows were out early this morning to clear streets and highways. Snow crews have been alerted for more of the same Tuesday morning.

The snow at Escanaba had virtually disappeared prior to this morning's snowfall but the accumulation of old and new snow on the ground at Houghton totals 35 inches with 15 inches at Marquette and 13 at Sault Ste. Marie.

It was not exactly an auspicious spring debut in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

In Escanaba and wherever feasible there will be a house-to-house solicitation organized, Brackett announced.

Who's Kidding Who and Why?

Chapter 2

The Upper Peninsula Power Co. says it will spend $500,000.00 during the next five years on "improvements" to our Electrical Distribution System. Pfeifer - Shultz insists that $90,000 of our own money will do the job.

QUESTION:

Why is the U. P. Power Co. so anxious to spend a half million dollars on these "improvements"?

AGAIN THE ANSWER IS:

They will get it all back from us in our light bills, plus some very nice dividends for their stockholders. $500,000.00 times 14% is $70,000.00 which they may pull out of Escanaba every year for Federal Taxes and Dividends to their stockholders on these "improvements." Adding this $70,000 to the $168,000 they will get each year on the purchase price they are offering for our Electrical Utility makes a total annual "take" at this point of $238,000.00 that the PRIVATE POWER MONOPOLY would be happy to pull out of Escanaba every year.

Why should we give away $238,000.00 of our own money every year when we can keep it right here in Escanaba.

Former Escanaba Couple Learn Mexico Is Tourist's Paradise,

(Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Anderson of Cheboygan, former Escanaba residents, are spending several weeks in Mexico. Mrs. Anderson, the former Carol Smith of Wells, is preparing several articles about their experiences in Mexico. This is the first article in the series. Both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are graduates of the Escanaba High School, Class of 1943. Kenneth Anderson is the son of Gust E. Anderson, 902 S. 14th St., Escanaba.)

By CAROL ANDERSON
MEXICO — A world of sunshine, smiles and wonder is just five and one-half days of easy driving from Escanaba. Once the border has been crossed, the heart of the country, Mexico City, can be reached in two or three more days. There is no question about Mexico as the U. S. traveler's paradise. Mexico has all the charm and flavor of any foreign land, but it is easy to reach and liberally trades one U. S. dollar for 12 and one half Mexican dollars.

The tourist business is big business in Mexico and everything possible is being done to see that the traveler is given a safe, enjoyable and inexpensive vacation. Sometimes it is like one never left home due to the amazing number of U. S. vacationers in the land below the border. They are descending upon Mexico by plane, train, bus and car. In Mexico City alone there are currently 25,000 tourists, 20 percent of whom have come for the Pan American games.

For Escanaba travelers bound for Mexico by automobile, Highway 85 which enters Mexico at Laredo, Texas, is the best bet. Highway 85 is good and so are accommodations. There are new motels and hotels on every hand, although good eating places are not as readily available. There is no hiding the fact that the change in altitude, food and water has a definite effect on U. S. stomachs and many people get a touch of "tourist disease."

Gasoline Is Cheap
By dropping water-sterilizing tablets into water and coffee and tea, if doubtful, and by avoiding all unpeeled fruits and vegetables, chances of illness are greatly reduced. Tourists are inclined to be too active before becoming accustomed to the altitude. With a little precaution, there should be no inconvenience.

There are numerous good garages along Highway 85 and gasoline is cheap. Mexolina costs from 13 to 17 cents a gallon, and the better brand, Super-Mexolina, is only 17 to 21 cents a gallon. Gas is sold in liters and there are about 4 liters to a gallon. At the gas station, as elsewhere, English and sign language serve well as long as one doesn't get off the subject.

We took three days to Mexico City, stopping overnight at Monterrey and Valles. However, the trip would have been better broken with the first stop in Ciudad Victoria, and the second in Zimapan or Tamazunchale, as the last day's drive through the mountains is the most difficult and also contains the most spectacular scenery.

Tropical Country
Here the country is tropical, with a picture on every hand of colorfully dressed people in their thatched houses perched among lushly beautiful plants and flowers. At each turn of the road, there will be a truck stopped, while the driver takes a siesta behind it. Obviously he does not trust his brakes as heavy stones are always pushed tight against the wheels.

A recently published guide book from a travel agency, auto association, or even borrowed from the public library, is an invaluable aid. It is impossible to list all the approved places and it is most unwise to choose haphazardly.

Rooms for two average about $5.00, although they can be had for much less, and naturally, more elaborate places charge a little more. Nice stops in Monterrey include the new Anfa Motel, the El Paso Autel, and the Hotel Ambassador. Sanborn's and Louisiana are favorite eating places. At Valles, there are many pleasant places — the Covadonga, the Casa Grande, the Hotel Valles, and the fabulous Hotel Taninul.

At the outskirts of Zimapan is the lovely Pasado del Ray which looks like a dream come true. The decor is Spanish, elaborate and beautiful, but the food is only fair. Also at Zimapan is the charming Hotel Fundicion.

redo and Mexico City, the motorist is unprepared for the dash and confusion of Mexico City traffic. Mexico City has a population of nearly four million and the traffic is a sight in itself. Bonded guides are available at the city's edge, although we made our own way to the Shirley Courts only to be sent on to another hotel. Although our stay at the only U. S. couple in the hotel was an adventure, we were happy to move into the clean, comfortable, relaxing oasis that is Shirley Courts. Reservations are definitely in order for Mexico City, Acapulco, and Monterey.

A wonderful vacation in colorful, romantic Mexico can be had for as little as $10 a day per person including meals, room, tips, sight seeing, but not including gifts. Shopping is wonderful and there are still many bargains to be had.

Going through customs is a simple matter if the proper papers are produced, including birth certificate and car title. Also having had the smallpox vaccination well in advance is advisable as it is required for re-entry to the United States. An international immunization form can be obtained from the doctor at the time of the vaccination.

It's much more obvious when you don't wear a Zenith Hearing Aid

Perhaps you are one of the millions who suspect that your hearing is not what it used to be. Or one of the millions fully aware of a definite hearing loss. # Dispute Over University Status For Michigan State Is Unfounded

ALL the furor that has developed over the proposal to change the name of Michigan State College to Michigan State University is quite pointless to the average citizen of Michigan, or at least to those who are not among the alumni of the University of Michigan.

The objections to the change, of course, come from the University of Michigan

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

The word-coiners are always with us—and a healthy thing it is that they are. For the year which does not see a sizeable number of words newly added to our language is the year when our people and our culture—of which language is a most important part—will be starting the long slide down the road to oblivion.

At the moment, though, we need have no fears about the steady growth of our language. Scarcely a day passes without the announcement of a newly named electronic brain—"edvac" and "univac" being only two of the dozens of new words coming into our language from the fertile and ever so human brains in the employ of Remington Rand and IBM.

Then there are the textile manufacturers with such coinages as "Dacron," "Chromespan," "Chemstrand," and hundreds more. And what's more the government public relations officers have always been fertile spawners of new words, inclining most often to acronymic forms—those words made up of the initial letters of the words forming a phrase or title. SEATO for Southeast Asia Treaty Organization is one of these acronyms recently in the news.

Not too long ago we noted in this space the embarrassment of our State Department officials when they announced a similar coinage for the organization growing out of last year's Brussels conference. It was to be called BRUTO, short for Brussels Treaty Organization, until one of the Italian delegates gently pointed out that in his language "bruto" has two meanings—brutal and ugly.

Today's new coinage—courtesy of the United States Navy—describes the fastest railroad on earth, one capable of traveling 2,400 miles per hour. Located in the Mojave Desert, it is used to test models of supersonic airplanes. It's made of rails embedded in concrete on which a steel sled travels at fantastic speeds. Now only four and one-half miles long, it will soon be extended to ten miles, at which time it is expected to run at speeds up to 6,000 miles an hour, according to POPULAR SCIENCE magazine.

And what is this incredibly fast railway called? Well, its full name is Super-sonic Naval Ordnance Research Track but it's always called—you guessed it—SNORT!

Try And Stop Me

A small-town druggist was down but not out. Closed by the sheriff, he posted this notice on the window: "Our doors are locked. The following services formerly available here may be had as follows: Ice water at fountain in park. General information from cop at the corner. Change of a dollar at bank. Matches and scratch pads at hotel. Rest rooms at home. Magazines for browsing at doctor's office. Bus information at the terminal. And loafing at any other location of your own choosing."

Publisher, seeking the reason for a sudden spurt in the sale of a new novel, discovered that a radio critic had insisted it contained a "knotty" problem. The listening audience thought he said "naughty."

who apparently feel that the designation "Michigan State University" for Michigan State College will cause some people to get that institution confused with the University of Michigan.

Michigan State is entitled to the designation of "university". The Western Conference, probably better known as the "Big Ten", recognized that when it voted Michigan State to its exclusive membership.

There are many other cases of similarity in names of big educational institutions in the nation without creating any considerable confusion in identity. Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania, for instance. University of Washington and Washington State University. University of Florida and Florida State University. Ohio State University and Ohio University, and many others.

Both the University of Michigan and Michigan State College are among the largest educational institutions in the nation. The World Almanac for 1954 credits the University of Michigan with 18,821 students and Michigan State with 15,485 students. Both institutions are larger than this at the present time.

The fame of both schools has spread far and wide. Michigan State, of course, has gained tremendously in national stature as a result of its election to the Big Ten conference. Both schools are so well known nationally that it is most unlikely that there can be any appreciable degree of confusion in identities due to similarity in names.

Some of the University of Michigan alumni scornfully may refer to Michigan State as a "cow college" but it is, in fact, like the University of Michigan, a great and lofty institution of higher learning, fully deserving of the title "university".

The truth is that the taxpayers of Michigan are supporting two outstanding "universities" and we might as well admit it and take credit for it.

One is the University of Michigan, an institution that was born even before the state of Michigan came into being and an institution of higher learning that today is among the world's greatest universities.

The other is Michigan State, a college once but a university today. It has earned the title and the name. Why not recognize it?

The Doctor Says ... Correct Diet May Help Prevent More Kidney Stones

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

"All my life I have suffered from kidney stones," writes Mr. K. "and have had three operations in addition to years of treatment. Still I grow the stones. It has now been determined that the last stone removed is an oxalate. Is there a diet that I can use now to help prevent the formation of more stones?"

The fact that the chemical composition of the last stone was analyzed (I do not understand why this was not done before) and that it was found to be an oxalate increases the chances that further stones can be prevented. The reason this is so is that kidney stones may be made up of several kinds of chemical substances.

IN THE PRESENCE of oxalate stones, therefore, one would normally cut down or eliminate those foods which contain a lot of axalic acid such as rhubarb and eggplant (a full list should be obtained from your doctor). Also an increase in the amount of fluid taken in each day providing the kidneys are in good enough shape to handle it—means a greater dilution of oxalates so that they are less likely to be deposited and gradually grow to full-sized stones.

There are some other kinds of kidney stones which also lend themselves to attempted preventive measures by diet or by medication, although once formed few, if any, can be redissolved while lying in the kidney or urinary passageways.

KIDNEY STONES, of course, are not really "stones" at all. They are chemical compounds which have crystallized out of the urine because the latter no longer carries them in solution. They form in some part of the kidney, usually a sort of open space known as the pelvis. Also they grow little by little and do not appear suddenly as fully formed masses. This slow growth generally means that symptoms are not produced for years, and indeed it is not unusual to find them unexpectedly in an X-ray film taken for some entirely different reason.

REAL TROUBLE usually starts when the stone starts to move. Most of them have sharp, jagged edges, and as they begin to move down the urinary passageways they cut into the delicate tissues producing bleeding and pain that is likely to be terrific. In fact this pain is often really unbearable and may take several injections of morphine or similar drugs before the victim can do anything but twist and turn in agony.

An attack of pain or colic requires two stages of treatment. The first is that of the particular stone which is passing. Often this is eliminated by itself but sometimes its passage has to be aided by one or more of the methods which are now available to speed its course. The next step is to find out if there are any more stones still in the kidneys, to analyze chemically the one passed, and to advise the patient with regard to diet and other measures which may help to prevent the formulation of new ones.

There are some other kinds of kidney stones which also lend themselves to attempted preventive measures by diet or by medication, although once formed few, if any, can be redissolved while lying in the kidney or urinary passageways.

KIDNEY STONES, of course, are not really "stones" at all. They are

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Europeans, particularly some of our British cousins, have a way of looking down their noses at American congressional customs, but nothing quite so drastic has ever been voted by either party in the Senate or the House as the punishment meted out by the British Labor Party this week in expelling Aneurin Bevan from that party in the House of Commons.

The British press has been filled in recent months with tirades against the American Congress for failing to expel Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, though not one word has ever been uttered advocating the elimination from the Republican party of Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who also broke with his party leaders.

Every member of Congress in this country can, if he wishes, change his political affiliation—as did Senator Morse recently when he announced that henceforth he would be a Democrat, even though he was elected to his present term after winning the Republican nomination in a party primary.

There is a great deal of tolerance in the United States, and loyalty to party has not been made the basis for censure or expulsion from the party. The 1952 Democratic National Convention rejected an attempt in that direction.

ATTACKED ATTLEE

In this case, the British Labor Party has withdrawn the party label from Mr. Bevan because of his speeches. He has been attacking the party leader—former prime minister Clement Attlee. Because such speeches are regarded as disloyal to the party, the Labor members of the Parliament voted 141 to 112 to expel him from the party.

Here, therefore, is a flagrant instance of punishment for views expressed. The American rule—at least prior to the "condemnation" of Senator McCarthy by Senate resolution—has been to permit members to enjoy freedom of speech in line with the spirit of the constitution, which holds that members shall not be, "questioned" for their speeches "in any other place." This certainly means no punishment can be applied inside the Congress either, since otherwise there could be libel suits instituted by one member against another.

Mr. Bevan's views are unpalatable to Americans and to a large number of Britishers. He believes, for example, the United States is responsible for the crisis in the Far East. He impatiently brushes aside Red China's intervention in the Korean war and says it was justified because she was provoked by the non-recognition policy of the United States. He says America is more of a menace to world peace than the Russians. Generally speaking, he makes the same arguments that the Communists make, though nobody has ever accused him of being in any way tied up with the Communists.

RIGHT TO HIS VIEWS

Distasteful as are Mr. Bevan's views, he has a right to express them. When the British Labor Party says that only persons of a certain attitude toward public questions can be permitted inside the party, it is, in effect, urging conformity of thought and expressing intolerance toward those who hold a different view on public questions.

It is most unfortunate that Britain's parliamentary leaders on the socialist side have allowed themselves to become victims of the current hysteria toward conformity of thought. Party discipline may withhold any posts of authority from those who differ from the majority, but to expel a man from the party on whose ticket he ran for office is to endow the party caucus or conference with rights above those of the voters themselves.

Maybe the British need to introduce the party-primary system so that the people may say what they want the Laborites to stand for, and this, of course, can be determined by posing before the voters conflicting viewpoints between which the voters could choose.

From the standpoint of international relations, it may be thought expedient to discipline Mr. Bevan, but the leader, Mr. Attlee, also has been expressing severe criticism of American policy in the Far East.

It is really a simple case of intolerance toward dissent, and one need not have the slightest sympathy with Mr. Bevan's views—and certainly this correspondent hasn't—to regret that an important principle is being disregarded in a great English-speaking democracy. For it now is written that a duly elected member of Parliament has been punished for expressing views unpopular with his party. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Nothing But A Sideshow!

Capt. Townsend Big Contrast To Margaret's High-Born Dates

LONDON —NEA—Women the world over are probably asking themselves: "What manner of man is this Capt. Peter Townsend?" Townsend, the dashing aviator who is said to have won the heart of Britain's petite, wayward Princess?

One thing is certain—he has none of the qualifications possessed by the young men whose names have been linked with Princess Margaret's ever since she made her debut in the world.

Handsome, 40-year-old Townsend is neither a man born in court circles, of high privilege or great wealth. He comes from the middle-classes, the backbone of England without whom she would have lost the war.

He was born at Rangoon, Burma, the son of a lieutenant-colonel, and educated in England. He went to Haileybury, the same school attended by Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor Party. Then he went on to the Royal Air Force college at Cranwell.

When he first donned the gray blue uniform Margaret was five. When war broke, Peter was one of that handful of Battle of Britain Spitfire pilots of whom Sir Winston Churchill said: "Never has so much been owed by so many to so few."

Princess Margaret's father, King George VI, chose Capt. Townsend, D. F. C. and bar, D. S. O., for Royal duties in 1944. The appointment on his merit alone of the war hero as an Equerry of Honour was made when the king voluntarily decided to democratize the monarchy to suit the changing times.

It was supposed to be for a duration of three months. But Peter rapidly gained popularity with all members of the Royal Family, including Queen Mary, and six years later he was appointed Deputy Master of the King's Household. This was a full-time job, with many responsibilities. Peter streamlined the Palace operation and saved money for George VI.

By this time he had married and had two sons, Giles, now 12 and Hugo, 9. The King granted him a grace-and-favor residence, Adelaide Cottage, in the shadow of Windsor Castle.

Meanwhile Margaret was growing up. Automatically, it was Peter who rode and walked with her during holidays at Sandringham. It was he who was deputized to escort the Princess when she attended the coronation of Queen Juliana in Holland.

Until then Margaret had been surrounded by the somewhat languid type of well-born young Englishman who had gone from the "playing fields" of Eaton to Oxford or Cambridge. All spoke the same language—usually restricted to a vocabulary of 150 words—all were more or less conscious of the "royal presence."

In Townsend she found a man who didn't talk exclusively of fast cars, didn't care for night clubs, jazz, cocktail chatter. Then his marriage went wrong and two years later he obtained a divorce in his favor, together with the custody of his sons.

The Royal Family had long known that Margaret had a crush on the handsome equerry but everybody thought that this would pass.

That was where Peter stood when rumors of a romance between Margaret and himself broke in the United States.

This also was the beginning of the end of his Court career. Princess Margaret went to Rhodesia. Townsend was "exiled" to Brussels as Air Attache to the British Embassy two days before she returned. There was no fuss, no goodbyes, no statement.

The hero of his love story has lived pretty much of a solitary life for nearly two years. The "Ace of Hearts," as the Belgians called him, could seldom be beguiled into the social whirl.

Despite world headlines concerning his friendship with Margaret, Townsend had never, until recently, said anything more than: "I'm sorry . . . nothing to say."

When informed that a British tabloid, the Sunday Pictorial, had stated: "If Princess Margaret places the man she loves above everything else, she need fear no lasting rebuke," his comment was:

"I would not dream of discussing my private affairs and certainly not someone else's without permission or approval."

This was happening when, in London, hundreds of office workers who had gathered outside the Mansion House, where the Princess was being entertained by the Lord Mayor of London on her return from the Royal Tour greeted her with shouts of "Good Luck, Margaret."

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Spring comes early in Washington, and on a warm, wet day recently a capital citizen and wife—they prefer not to be named—were driving out Massachusetts Ave., N. W. In suburban Maryland, they spotted a woman in distress. Her car had become hopelessly stuck in the mud of an unfinished driveway.

The man stopped his own car and tried to give the lady help. But after several tries he found it impossible to push the stuck car one way or the other. In the meantime a steady stream of cars had whizzed by on the busy thoroughfare, but none stopped to give aid.

Just as the man was about to give up and go call for a tow truck, a long black limousine pulled up to a stop. Four husky men piled out. In no time at all they freed the stuck car. The woman driver got out, shook hands all around and was most profuse in her thanks to the five men who had helped her.

"Don't thank us, thank the President," came the reply.

"What President?" asked the woman.

"Our President."

And before she could spell "Ike" the President was pointed out to her, sitting in his own car, and waiting for the four Secret Service men to complete their Boy Scout deed for the day.

Returning from Burning Tree golf course, the sharp-eyed President had noted the woman stuck in the mud and the man trying to help her. The President had stopped his own car and asked the Secret Service detail in the trailing car to give her a hand. But the Secret Servicemen didn't ask what her name was.

ROBERT W. BURGESS, Director of the U. S. Bureau of the Census, got introduced for a speech before a Washington group of statisticians and economists the other day as "The man responsible for the great increase in U. S. population in the two years since he took office."

Mr. Burgess is a big man all right—six-foot-three—but he isn't quite big enough to be responsible for the eight million births recorded in 1953 and 1954.

DEFENSE SECRETARY C. E. Wilson has invited 17 newspaper political cartoonists who have drawn funny pictures of him and sent him their originals to come have lunch with him at the Pentagon. The four Washington cartoonists, Talburt of Scripps - Howard, Berryman, Herblock and Crockett will be there. But the other invitations went clear across the country to include Fitzpatrick of St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Scott Long of Milwaukee Journal and Howard Fisher of Portland, Ore. Journal.

Behind this invitation is an interesting situation. Secretary Wilson, being mechanically minded, can figure out anything with a slide rule and blueprints. But how cartoonists can think up ideas for funny drawings is beyond him.

He has all these originals framed in his office. The dirtier the dig in them, the better he likes them. He wants to meet the creators face to face to find out how they do it.

"I have long admired the ability and facility with which you gentlemen in the profession point up the events in the news," Secretary Wilson wrote each of the cartoonists. "I hope that you will be able to give me something of an insight on how you do it at this luncheon and get-together."

REP. CLARE E. HOFFMAN (R., Mich.) is often kidded because he looks so much like the late Will Rogers. But their dispositions are considerably different. And the dour Michigander has now let it be known that he would really prefer to be mistaken for Mae West—"I mean as she looked years ago."

Umpire Of UAW And Ford Dies

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Harry Shulman, 52, dean of the Yale University Law School, died Sunday at his home. Since 1943 he had been an umpire under the contract between the Ford Motor Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers.

A member of the Yale Law faculty since 1930, Professor Shulman became dean of the law school last July 1. Since 1939 he had been a professor of law at Yale.

Dean Shulman was one of the country's leading authorities on labor law and was equally noted as an arbitrator in labor-management disputes.

A delegation of Ford and UAW officials will attend funeral services Tuesday in Providence, R. I.

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, and Ken Bannan, UAW director of the Ford Department, said in a joint statement:

"News of the death of Harry Shulman comes as a great shock. He contributed greatly to labor management understanding in the United States and particularly in the automobile industry. As the Ford-UAW umpire he had the rare facility of combining judicial impartiality, and human compassion. We in the union regarded him not only as a just umpire of dispute but also as a friend and a wise counselor."

Hugh Cavill And Partner Buy Coal Firm In Menominee

MENOMINEE — Negotiations have been completed for sale of the Hinker Coal Company by the estate of the late John H. Hinker to Hugh K. Cavill, Menominee real estate dealer, and E. T. Hanley, retired automobile dealer. The new owners will take over control of the company on Monday. Cavill is a former resident of Rapid River.

The transaction includes the company's personal property, real estate and coal dock, the Hinker home at 1308—1st Street, and the next lot south of the home. A condition of the sale was that Mrs. Hinker will continue to occupy the home until her death.

Cavill said that he and Hanley will take over management of the company and there will be no change in company policy or personnel, with the present staff of seven employees to be retained. In addition to the coal business, the company deals in building materials and supplies.

Cavill and Hanley were associated in an other major real estate transaction last year when they purchased the former plant of the L. E. Jones Company at 14th Avenue and 6th Street, originally built by the Henes & Keller Company. This plant is under lease to the Signal Electric Division of King-Seely Corporation for warehouse purposes.

Supermarket Stickup Pair Caught; Inside Man Shot By Police

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP)—A supermarket stickup at the height of a Friday night shopping rush backfired. Police shot and killed an employee they said acted as the "inside man" for the holdup and captured two would-be bandits.

The attempted holdup of the big, new market, occurred two minutes before closing while about 60 customers milled about waiting to check out.

They scattered in all directions and dived under counters as two men entered the store toting a sawed off shotgun and a pistol, followed minutes later by nine policemen.

One of the alleged stickup men was captured at a cash register as he emptied cash into a paper bag. The second was caught in the cellar. Their purported accomplice, hired by the store last May, was shot through the head after failing to obey an order, to halt, police said.

NEW YORK (AP)—Coppers were higher today in a rather steady stock market.

In the early afternoon, prices changed narrowly with the exceptions of a few unusually wide movers.

Zenith was up between six and seven points at times. The company turned in a good earnings report.

General Dynamics, Babcock & Wilcox, and Kennecott Copper were up between two and three points. Sperry and Remington Rand, now talking merger, each were down around a point.

Also lower were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Santa Fe Railroad, and Dow Chemical.

Airliner Lands On Nose; 60 Safe

CHICAGO (AP)—Sixty passengers and six crew members all escaped injuries when a big airliner nosed into the ground on an emergency landing here Sunday. Afterward, entertainer Connie Boswell sang, "We Came in on a Wing and a Prayer."

The passengers got a shaking up—but nothing worse—when the nose wheel of an American Airlines DC7 collapsed on landing at Midway Airport.

The plane was on a nonstop flight from Los Angeles to New York when one engine began sputtering east of Chicago. Capt. R. A. Patterson, of Los Angeles, headed the ship back to Chicago for a landing.

Miss Boswell, who sang from a wheel chair—she is a polio cripple—as one of the Boswell Sisters, and her husband Harry Leedy were on their way to New York to make records.

The passengers continued to New York in a later plane.

Bombing Of Union Building In Chicago Checked By Police

CHICAGO (AP)—Police today investigated the bombing of an AFL union local's two-story building that shattered windows, buckled doors and cracked walls.

The Sunday night bombing of quarters occupied by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 134 (AFL) caused no injuries. Frank Thielman, first division fire marshal, estimated damage to the near West Side structure at more than $5,000.

Thomas J. Murray, the local's business manager, told police he knew no reason for the bombing. He said the local, claiming a membership of 14,000 electrical workers, was not engaged in any negotiations or jurisdictional disputes.

Democrats Give Up On Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders predicted freely today House Democrats will abandon their fight for an income tax cut to avoid being blamed for slicing other revenues.

The House voted its $20-a-person tax cut plan into a bill which would extend for another year corporate and excise tax rates due to expire April 1. The Senate rejected the tax cut and voted only to continue the other taxes. Unless they are extended, government income will drop an estimated three billion dollars a year.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), who fought the tax cut plan, said Sunday night he believes the House will back down rather than run the risk of killing the revenue bill. House members also said during the weekend they thought they would be forced to yield.

House and Senate conferees will meet Wednesday to seek some compromise.

KARACHI (AP)—Seven members walked out of Pakistan's Sind Provincial Assembly today, protesting the arrest of the speaker in connection with an alleged plot to assassinate provincial ministers. The Assembly meeting continued after the walkout. The rest of the House later voted unanimously to strip the speaker, Ghulam Ali Talpur, of his post.

Republicans Approve Suggestion To Call Big Four Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials say a call by Sen. George (D-Ga.) for a top-level Big Four meeting is in line with the thinking of the Republican administration.

But, like George, they said certain conditions should be met in advance of active efforts to bring together President Eisenhower and the chiefs of Russia, Britain and France.

The department itself had no official comment on George's suggestion.

George, as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is influential in the development of U. S. foreign policy. He suggested Sunday night a four-power conference offers "the real hope of avoiding war." He said it possibly should be held this year.

At the moment, a meeting of Big Four foreign ministers—like that held in Berlin a year ago—seems more likely than a conference of chiefs of government. Secretary of State Dulles and leaders of Britain and France have talked of this possibility in positive terms once German rearmament is approved.

Prospects for American support of a top-level conference doubtless would be brightened should a foreign ministers' session produce constructive results. Expressing a belief a top-level conference would lead to "adjustments moving toward a more normal world," George said in an NBC television interview: "I think that we have reached the point where we should try."

He suggested a meeting be held "as soon as practical" but only after full ratification of agreements to rearm West Germany as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Western European Union.

After the broadcast, George said in response to a question he does not believe Red China should attend.

Big Circus Tent Falls On Crowd

UVALDE, Tex. (AP)—Mothers screamed, frightened children cried but no one was seriously hurt when a windstorm Sunday collapsed a circus tent on 400 persons. Soggy and heavy from lashing rains which accompanied the storm, the big Hagen Bros. Circus tent fell just before the lion and tiger act began—and just after other circus animals paraded around the arena.

Had the thunderstorm-spawned wind struck a moment earlier or later, the animals might have been freed among the spectators.

Spectators who crawled under bleachers and other paraphernalia holding the canvas off the floor were met by a blast of wind outside.

Police Officer George O'Neal said the supporting poles, attached to the tent's roof, bobbed dangerously up and down among spectators as the wind began billowing the tent. The final collapse, he said, was gradual and took about 15 minutes.

A number of children were scratched and bruised, said Police Chief Joe Newcomer, but no one was hurt enough to need medical attention.

Scotland Hardest Hit By Blizzards; Drifts 5 Feet High

LONDON (AP)—The first day of spring brought snow, gales and freezing weather to parts of the British Isles and Christmas weather to many other sections of Europe.

Scotland was the hardest hit. Snowdrifts, some of them five feet high, partially blocked the main Glasgow-London Railway. Some sections of the highlands reported blizzards that lasted 12 hours.

Vienna and Berlin had bright sunny skies and rising temperatures. Most of the rest of western Europe saw spring come in with blizzards, gales, and cold rain.

In Randers, Denmark, the temperature fell to 13 degrees below zero.

Room And Board Goes Up At U.M.

ANN ARBOR (P)—The University of Michigan's board of regents has awarded contracts for a million dollar nuclear reactor, raised room and board rates and hired a leading Milwaukee industrialist as a professor.

The Regents, in their regular monthly meeting Friday, spent most of the time discussing action against the bill which would change Michigan State College to Michigan State University. But they found time:

1. To award a contract for the construction of the nuclear research reactor to the Babcock and Wilcox Co., Akron, Ohio.

2. To accept a report from the board of governors of university residence halls covering a $50 increase per resident per year in room and board rates. This brings the average room and board rates to $754 a year.

3. To appoint Wyeth Allen, 61, of Milwaukee, as professor of industrial engineering. Allen, long active in University affairs, retired last year as president of Globe-Union Inc., makers of storage batteries and electronic equipment in 20 United States and Canadian plants.

4. To accept gifts and grants totalling $98,718, the largest of which was a $55,000 grant from the estate of Nathan Konold of Orlando, Fla., to establish a memorial fund for any appropriate university purpose.

UPSIDE-DOWN ECONOMICS!

There's something screwy here! No, it's not the printer — we asked him to set part of the above heading upside-down. Right-side-up it spells UPSIDE-DOWN ECONOMICS!

We refer, of course, to the REA Alger - Delta proposal to supply Escanaba with excess or dump load power. Here is what we mean —

The Cooperative proposes to borrow from the government and pay 2% interest on the loan. In turn, the government borrows from you — you — and you, and pays 3%. There is a 1% loss on the transaction right off the bat. The government, of course, can make that up by adding it to your income tax.

But that is only the beginning of the economic picture.

REA Alger - Delta proposes to sell the City electric power for 1.06 cents. It also plans to sell the paper mill power from the same generating plant for 7/10 of a cent. However, the Stanley Engineering Report shows the energy cost for REA Alger - Delta to be 1.18 cents for the first year — 1.2 cents for the second year — and a weighted average over a 10-year period of 1.07.

Who's going to make up this loss? Or is there something about UPSIDE - DOWN ECONOMICS WE DO NOT UNDERSTAND?

Marilyn Larson,
Ray V. Sjodin
Wed In Youngstown

Evangelical Baptist Church in Youngstown, Ohio, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Marilyn Jean Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Larson, and Ray Vernon Sjodin. The bridegroom, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Verner Sjodin, is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Sjodin, 1425 N. 19th St., Escanaba and a nephew of Mrs. Adolph Miller, 501 Minnesota Ave., Gladstone.

The 7:30 p. m. candlelight service Saturday, March 19, was performed by the Rev. Charles J. Sundstrom and the benediction was given by the Rev. Ben F. Sherman.

Lace and Tulle

The bride wore a slipper length gown of lace and tulle fashioned with a basque bodice of lace. The decollete neckline was offset with a tulle yoke marked with lace appliques around the neckline. The very bouffant skirt had a scalloped tulle effect of lace, which was edged with a deep ruffle of tulle and formed a brush train. For her headpiece she chose a dainty plateau of matching lace which held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a crescent cascade of white carnations and white feathered carnations.

Her cousin, Mrs. Donald Larson, wore a powder blue slipper length gown of lace and tulle fashioned with a tight bodice. The gown was complemented by a lace cape with a mandarin neckline. Her bouquet, a crescent cascade of purple violets and pink feathered carnations, matched the cluster of flowers in her hair.

Spring Flowers

Glen Sjodin, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and ushering were Donald Larson and Daniel Ellis.

Standards of spring flowers banked with palms and ferns formed the church decorations, lighted with four seven-branched candelabra.

The reception was held in the church parlors.

The newlyweds will live at 623 W. Delaun Ave., Youngstown, when they return from a honeymoon in Washington, D. C.

Large Attendance
At Club Breakfast

A capacity crowd attended the annual communion breakfast of St. Anne's Social Club held Sunday following the 9:30 a. m. Mass. Members of the club entered the church for services in a body and received Holy Communion in a group. The breakfast was served immediately following Mass in the church hall. The blessing was given by Father Clifford Nadeau. In observance of the dedication of the month of March to St. Joseph, the decorative theme was centered with a statue of St. Joseph, beautifully adorned with flowers. A short business session at which Mrs. Thomas Richer, club president, presided, followed the breakfast. Mrs. G. E. Christie, chairman, Mrs. Lloyd Garrett, assisting chairman, and their hostess committee were in charge.

Many Ways To Brighten Days Of The Convalescent

EAST LANSING—Getting well is a rather monotonous time for bed-ridden patients. But visitors, mail, radio, television and books do a lot to ease this situation.

According to Jean McHarg of the Michigan State College department of nursing education, visitors equipped with easy and pleasant conversation are the best recreation.

Next best, says Miss McHarg is mail. Patients like letters, cards and even the smallest gifts—especially those wrapped in bright colors and gay paper. A radio or television set in the sick-room also entertains a patient and helps him keep up with the world.

As soon as a patient can eat most foods and begins to feel well, he looks forward to his meals. Even when he is on a special diet, points out Miss McHarg, foods can be made interesting and attractive. A pretty tray decorated with flowers or a bit of seasonal decoration, such as an Easter nest, will do a lot to improve appetites. Miss McHarg adds that it depresses a patient to eat alone and suggests company at mealtime when possible.

Books also help pass the time, but Miss McHarg warns that too much reading can cause eyestrain. Your librarian can help you select a book to suit your patient's interests.

Children who are recovering from illnesses often like to have something alive to watch. Perhaps goldfish or a canary would keep them company and make the time go faster.

Cut up those cooked chicken giblets and heat them with any leftover chicken gravy; serve over fluffy rice. Or add the giblets to an egg salad sandwich for the

New Luggage Is Lightweight

This girl is using a travel case that separates into two compartments in packing for her vacation (left). The case easily holds (right) every thing she will need for a two-week period.

NEW YORK —(NEA)— How many pieces of luggage did you take with you on your last trip? Were you loaded down with three heavy cases you got as a gift 10 years ago for a birthday or anniversary?

If you were, it's time for a look at what's happening with luggage. Far lighter weight, for one thing. Even 10 years ago, a woman's wardrobe case was so heavy empty that it wasn't easy to lift. Add clothes to this weight and she couldn't possibly walk from house to taxi without two men and a boy to handle the luggage.

Poor Planning

And that wasn't all. She needed more than just that one wardrobe case. It may have been impressively heavy but it wasn't planned to hold much. So she had to have a train case for her cosmetics and possibly a suitcase or another case in addition.

The new lightweight luggage means that a woman can easily carry her own case, if need be. And any woman who's been stuck at airport or railroad station with no porter about knows what this means.

The new luggage is considerate of you in other ways. Luggage designers have come to plan cases for certain periods of time. That is, one new case is designed to hold everything a woman needs for a two weeks' vacation. Other pieces are similarly planned, whether for a weekend, a week or just overnight. And these new pieces are the ultimate in efficiency.

Double Duty

One new case, for instance, separates in two compartments.

ANNOUNCING . . .

This first message in a series of ads, by your Delta County Dry-cleaners Association, designed to assist you in buying and caring for your clothes.

RAYON IS UNIVERSAL

Aside from having a somewhat lower tensile strength (when wet) than other fabrics, rayon presents no special problems cleaning-wise. There are, however, several exceptions to this statement.

In the first place, there's a lot of difference between rayon and acetate. What a lot of us call rayon is actually acetate. Now acetate is quite serviceable under all ordinary circumstances; but rayon is not always considered serviceable by most professional cleaners.

For most reliable service for the longest time, you're usually better off with acetate. Rayon is great—but, for clothing, acetate is greater! And may we suggest two important precautions for any rayon or acetate?

1. Never try to remove nail polish yourself. Both the polish and its remover affect the fibres of the fabric and often cause them to fuse. (We may be able to remove the nail polish with almost imperceptible damage). And, spilled alcohol may liberate dyes.
2. When buying, ask if the garment or yardage will withstand ordinary drycleaning procedures. Some rayons, good for many other purposes, are not ideal for clothes that have to be cleaned.

If you do these things, you'll assure yourself of two valuable results. First, you'll get as much wear as possible from your garment. Second, you'll avoid trouble and loss.

Third, a good thing to do is always call or bring them to a good reliable cleaner.

Both fell out of the car in the accident. They were taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital for treatment. Both were later released.

The street was wet but not icy, police reported.

Keeping Fit Is Not Expensive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It costs less to keep the average man healthy than it does to maintain his automobile, says a Stanford University physician. It can be done, the doctor added, by having regular periodic health examinations—by getting a medical checkup every six months or so even when you are well.

Dr. H. Corwin Hinshaw, Stanford chest physician, writing in the Bulletin of the National Tuberculosis Assn. says:

"Maintenance of a man costs less than maintenance of an automobile. The cost of trading the serviceable old car for a new model is greater than the cost of a major illness.

"The cost of maintaining a good sickness insurance policy is less than the cost of smoking a package of cigarettes daily.

"Women spend more in beauty parlors than in doctors' offices.

"Many families who spend hundreds of dollars annually on luxuries and vices are considered to be 'medically indigent.' Values and standards are distorted through ignorance and improvidence."

GIRLS SCARCE

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Marcus L. Norvell Jr. really had reason to be proud when his daughter was born. She was the first girl on his side of the family in 71 years.

3 Persons Hurt
In 3 Accidents

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in several auto accidents over the weekend.

Mrs. Adam Sinclair, 38, of 609 N. 9th St., Gladstone sustained a cut over the right eye and head injuries when an auto driven by James Sinclair, 47, Kipling, in which she was a passenger, skidded on an icy spot on County Highway C-2 not far from Terrace Gardens, went off the road and struck a tree. The car, a 1947 light sedan was considerably damaged.

Gust W. Larson, 66, of 221 S. Cedar St., Manistique, and his wife Emma, sustained bruises and contusions Sunday morning about 8:45 on Highway US 2-41 north of Kipling when their 1955 sedan collided with a 1952 light sedan driven by Theodore C. "an Duzoe, 54, of 309 S. Front St., Marquette.

Van Duzoe was making a left hand turn off the highway when struck. He told officers he looked behind but saw no one approaching before making the turn. Larson told troopers he had not sounded his horn to signal his intention of passing but did not see a turn signal from the other car. No tickets were issued. Both cars were damaged extensively.

In another accident occurring at 2:15 Sunday morning on Highway M-35 north of County Road 521 in Ford River Township, Robert Wunder, 37, Route 1, Bark River, was the driver of an auto which eased off the highway and struck a tree. Wunder told investigating officers he fell asleep. He was ticketed for not having his auto under control.

This Could Be The Season Milwaukee Wins NL Pennant

By JACK HAND
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — This could be the year that baseball-mad Milwaukee goes completely berserk with its first pennant winner. If the Braves can escape the injury jinx that struck down five key men last season, they could go "all the way."

Despite a series of bad accidents that started when Bobby Thomson broke his ankle in spring training, the Braves finished third last year only eight games behind the New York Giants and third back of Brooklyn.

With the record of the last two years and the tremendous backlog of fan enthusiasm to back him up, it is not necessary for manager Charlie Grimm to pop off.

Injuries Ruined Them
"We have as good a chance as anybody," says Grimm. "We could have won it last year. We got off to a terrible start and the injuries killed us after we got rolling."

Thomson was given a clean bill of health recently by the St. Petersburg doctor who set his ankle last spring. The Braves count on Bobby to hold down left field and end his power to the cleanup spot in the order.

There are only two contests for everyday jobs on the Braves—right field and second base. Hank Aaron (.280) is expected to edge

Andy Pafko (.286) out of right and Danny O'Connell (.279) probably will hold off the challenge of Jack Dittmer (.245) at second.

Grimm has a set infield of Joe Adcock (.308) on first, Johnny Logan (.275) at short and Eddie Mathews (.209) at third. The outfield will be Thomson (.232), Bill Bruton (.284) and Aaron.

Top Backstop

Del Crandall, 25, is about ready to take over as the best catcher in the league, if he can boost his .242 average. Jack Parks (.312 at Atlanta) probably will be his under study.

For utility help, Grimm is expected to keep outfielders Chuck Tanner (.323 at Atlanta) and Jim Pindleton (.220) first baseman George Crowe (.334 at Toledo) and Dittmer. Bronx Players Mel Roach an outfielder, and Joe Jay, a pitcher, must be kept until June or July.

Tigers Clobbered 10-2; Harris Hopes For Rain

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers says he never thought he'd see the time in spring training he would be wishing for rain.

But he is now. After the 10-3 licking his Tigers absorbed Sunday at the hands of the Boston Red Sox, Harris said:

"I'd sure like to see a break in this weather right now."
"This is the 20th straight day we've been working out in 80 degree temperature," Harris said, "and I know the players are tired out. So much heat so fast has been exhausted. A day of rest would do them a lot of good right about now."

Without rain there'll be no rest for the Tigers. There isn't an open date on their exhibition schedule until March 31, the day before they break camp.

If it wasn't the heat Sunday, it was the Red Sox steam.
The Sox clobbered the Tigers for 15 hits while holding Detroit to four—the same number Boston's Billy Goodman got in five trips to the plate.

Big Frank Sullivan, Boston right-hander, allowed only one hit in the first five innings. Sullivan retired the first 10 men in a row Warren Spahn (21-12), of course, is the big gun of the pitching staff. Gene Conley (14-9) and Lew Burdette (15-14), are certain stars.

Grimm counts on both Bob Buhl (2-7) and Chet Nichols (9-11) to bounce back from so-so seasons. Jim Wilson (8-2) will be used for spot work against certain clubs. Dave Jolly (11-6) and Ernie Johnson (5-2), both righthanders, will do the relief work.

North Carolina In AAU Tourney

DENVER (AP) — North Carolina State's Wolfpack, one of the nation's top-ranked college basketball powers, faces an uphill battle in the National AAU tournament opening tonight.

The Southerners, sporting a 28-4 season record, are the first collegiate outfit in more than a decade to be rated a serious threat to such traditional AAU kingpins as Phillips 66, The Peoria, Ill., Cats and Denver's Central Bankers. The four teams are top-seeded in the 25-team field.

The Wolfpack was ineligible for the NCAA because of recruiting violations. A conference rule kept them from playing in the National Invitational Tournament in New York.

Peoria will be seeking its fourth straight AAU championship—a feat never accomplished in the 48-year history of the tournament. North Carolina state, Phillips, Peoria and Denver drew first-round byes along with ADA Oilers of Houston, Tex., the San Francisco Olympic Club and Milwaukee's All-Bradley.

The seeded teams won't swing into action until Wednesday. Meanwhile, nine games tonight and Tuesday will reduce the field to 16.

Opening night action matches Gregory Clothiers of Greeley, Colo. and Gigax—Lamposters of Richmond, Ind.; Artesia, N.M., and Meadow Golf of Beatrice, Neb., and the Goodyear Wingfoots of Akron, Ohio, against Camp Chaffee, Ark.

and faced only 17 in five frames. Detroit's three runs came in the eighth off southpaw Mel Parnell. Al Kaline opened by beating out an infield scratch. Bill Tuttle followed with a clean single—his second. Then, Walt Streuli, rookie Tiger catcher, scored Kaline on a single and the other two runs came in on a wild pitch and a double play.

The loss pushed Detroit down to a 4-7 exhibition game mark.

Playoffs First In Star's Mind

DETROIT (AP)—Red Wing Goalie Terry Sawchuk, who salted away $1,000 Sunday night when he shut out the Montreal Canadiens, was gazing sadly at the floor shortly after the game.

As happy back-slappers approached with congratulations, Sawchuk glanced up, saying: "It's all forgotten now. We start the Stanley Cup playoffs Tuesday night and as far as I'm concerned it's just like starting a new season. The pressure is still there—even more so."

Sawchuk got revenge by winning the $1,000 Vezina Trophy. He allowed 134 goals—one less than Toronto's Harry Lumley. Lumley took it from him last year, 131 to 132.

General manager Jack Adams, easily the most excited man in Detroit's dressing room, said: "They counted us out last month and they counted us out tonight, but there's only one champion. They folded, they just couldn't come through in the clutch."

The game attendance of 13,383, boosted Detroit's home season attendance to 407,252.

Hawks Lose Two Games To Open Cup Playoffs

Playoff Results
Canadian Soo 6, Escanaba 1.
Canadian Soo 4, Escanaba 3.
(Canadian Soo leads best-of-five series 2-0 with third game of series at Marquette Palestra Wednesday at 8)

By Ray Crandall
MARQUETTE — The Escanaba Hawks ran into a fired-up Canadian Soo aggregation here over the weekend and dropped their two opening games in the best-of-five championship playoff series for the Doc Gibson Cup, 6-1 and 4-3.

The Canadians, 15-strong, threw a three-line attack at the Hawks that proved too much for the defending cup holders. After sweeping to a 6-1 victory in the playoff opener Saturday night, the Canadians ran into stiffer opposition Sunday afternoon and needed a mid-period goal in the third frame to edge the battling Hawks.

When things looked brighter for the Escanaba fans Sunday afternoon, the Canadian goalie Louis Casola came through with a brilliant performance to chill the Hawks hopes for a victory. Casola moved like a big cat in the Canadian net, kicking and slapping out the Hawks' shots with amazing success.

Uphill Battle
It was an uphill battle for the Hawks all the way, but even in losing the Escanaba crew gained the respect of the Canadians and the large crowds that attended both games. Joe Nogalo, sturdy Escanaba defenseman, was probably the outstanding Hawk on the ice while Ben Artwich drew loud applause for his work in the nets.

In the Saturday night opener Hawks put on a stirring first period performance to match everything the Canadians could offer. The period was a dog-eat-dog affair with neither team able to gain an advantage, and it ended in an appropriate 0-0 knot.

Casola was called on to turn back 14 Escanaba shots in that period, while the Hawks threw up an effective defense in front of Artwich with only nine shots getting through. Big Ben turned all of them out of the net.

Nogalo Fights Dimma

scoreless until the mid-way mark of the second period when Nogalo and Soo's Birley Dimma dropped their mits and traded punches in mid-ice. Both were tossed in the penalty box for high-sticking and fighting, drawing 7-minute penalties.

During that seven minutes the Canadians poured three goals into the Hawks' nets to clinch the victory. Buddy Provo scored Escanaba's lone goal at 17:25 of the third period to cut the Hawks' deficit to 5-1, but it was too late to turn the tide.

Sunday afternoon the Hawks jumped into a 1-0 lead in the early minutes of the game, led 2-1 in the first period and 3-2 in the second but couldn't keep up the intense pace set by the Canadians. The teams went into the third period deadlocked 3-3.

Herb Simon, rugged Soo defenseman, broke the tie at 10:32 when he blasted a long screen shot through a tangle of legs and sticks to beat Artwich.

Mark Olson opened scoring for the Hawks at 1:50 when he took the puck around the back of the net and slipped it in the corner. Soo's Tony Martinelli tied at 1-1 at 17:30 but Almo Muhonen denied the Canadian net on a blast from a rebound at 19:15 to put the Hawks ahead 2-1.

Casola Stymies Hawks
With Escanaba defenseman Floyd Stac out on a penalty for holding the puck, the Canadians tied it 2-2 on a shot by John Mandolei. At 6:45 Muhonen cut across the front of the net, took a flip pass from Tony Mancini and fired it past Casola to give the Hawks a 3-2 lead.

But late in the period Art Guallazzi flashed in the corner of the net to drill the puck past Artwich and knot the score at 3-3.

The Hawks got 10 shots on goal in the final period but Casola rose to the occasion and stymied their efforts to tie the score after Simon had put the Canadians ahead 4-3 at the 10:32 mark.

The third game of the series will be played at the Palestra Wednesday night at 8. If further games are needed they will likely be scheduled on the weekend. Escanaba hockey officials announced.

The Buck Inn team captured the Men's City Dartball Tournament championship over the weekend, beating the Daily Press two games out of three in the title match.

The tournament champions won six games while losing three in the weekend series. They tripped Eddy's Bar in the first round, two games out of three, and beat Spar's Bar in the semifinals, also two of three.

The Daily Press team won seven and lost three in the tournament. The Press team beat Carpenters two straight, repeated with two in a row over Houles in the quarterfinals and defeated Colonial two of three in the semifinals before bowing to Buck Inn.

Jack Berg of the Press won the tournament batting trophy with a .490 average on 24 hits in 49 times up. Don Boucher of the Buck Inn was second with 21 hits in 43 trips for a .488 average. Harold Carlson was third with 34 hits in 70 times at bat, for a .486 average.

The Women's City tournament will start tomorrow night at Carpenters' Hall. The public is invited to attend the tournament.

The annual Upper Peninsula Invitational tournament will start Friday night at 7. Drawings for the tourney will be conducted at 7 tonight at Eddy's Bar. Teams in this area may still enter if a representative attends the drawings, it was announced.

Braves Have Fearsome Threesome With Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While everyone is talking about the Cincinnati Reds' murders row, the Milwaukee Braves are quietly going about forming a real muscle machine of their own.

Eddie Mathews, Joe Adcock and newcomer Hank Aaron will strike terror into many a pitchers' heart before the season is over. In fact, clubs that must meet the Redlegs and Braves in successive series will have their work cut out for them.

Both the Braves and Redlegs chalked up exhibition conquests Sunday via the sudden-death route in the fashion of the old New York Yankees.

Third In Row
The Braves won their third in a row by edging the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4. Adcock broke it up with a home run over the left field fence in the eighth inning. Before that Aaron slapped one over the same wall with a runner aboard.

The Chicago White Sox got a taste of the raw power generated by the Redlegs. With the score tied in the ninth, the Redlegs came up with four runs to break it wide open. Wally Post hit two home runs for Birdie Tebbetts' club, while Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell delivered run-scoring hits in the big ninth.

The Boston Red Sox continued to get good pitching — This time from big Frank Sullivan, the bellwether of the staff last year as a sophomore. The Sox polished off the Detroit Tigers 10-3, with Sullivan hurling five innings and giving up just one hit. He has not permitted an earned run in 11 innings on the mound this spring.

Like Old Times
It was like old times in Los Angeles, where the New York Giants continued their mastery over the Cleveland Indians 7-3. Dusty Rhodes poled a pinch home run with one on off Mike Garcia in a five-run seventh inning.

The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, who appear to be trying to set a record for over-time exhibitions, played their second extra-inning game in less than 24 hours. The Brooks won this one 9-8 in 10 innings. Rookie Dodger shortstop Chico Fernandez got three hits, including a double in the 10th. He then scored the winning run on a single by Sandy Amoroso.

The Pittsburgh Pirates clipped Pedro Ramos, a Cuban right-hander, for two runs in the 13th to outlast the Washington Senators 4-2. Kansas City A's edged Baltimore 3-2.

Merentino is a 4-1 choice on his record of 53 triumphs (47 by knockouts) in 62 fights. Labau, who recently bounced his manager is a good boxer, while the invader is a mixer.

U. S. Swimmers Take Pan-Am Games Lead

By BOB MYERS
MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Pan-American Games swung into the home stretch today with the United States in front in the swimming and diving program.

On the swimming scene, slender Jimmy McClane of the United States handed Oscar Kramer of Argentina, the favorite, a decisive whipping in the 1,500-meter freestyle.

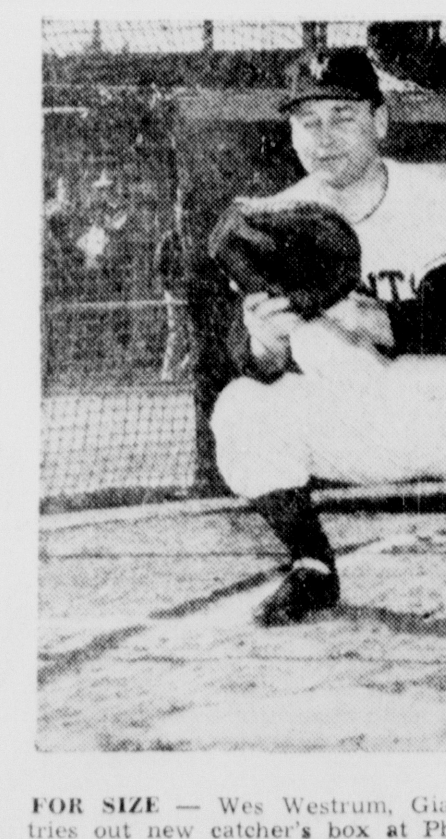

The time was a creditable 20:04 for this high altitude, and the outcome was mostly a matter of 25-year-old Jimmy, two-time Olympic swimmer, outsmarting Kramer and coming through with a winning kick in the final 100 meters.

In tennis, Art Larsen of the United States scored his first major victory in nine years of play in Mexico when he outmaneuvered 6-foot-4 Enrique Morea of the Argentine for the Pan-Am singles championship 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

On the basis of unofficial returns Sunday, the United States increased its over-all games total to 762 1/2 points. Argentina, with its 317, and Mexico, 221 1/2, were the next in line. The United States scored 201 1/2 points Sunday, largest single day total of the games.

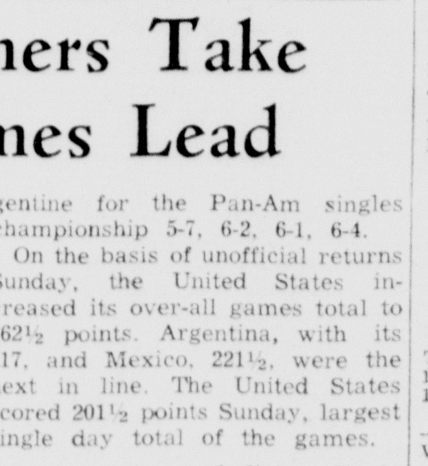

In swimming and diving, Uncle Sam added two more gold medals. One went to ex-Yale star McLane, the other to a water sprite of 14, Wanda Lee Werner, of Bethesda, Md.

Wanda dusted off the opposition in the 200-meter freestyle in 2:32.5. Her immediate runners-up were Lillian Gonzalez of Argentina and Gilda Aranda of Mexico, with Susan Douglas Gray, of Washington, D.C., fourth.

Houghton And Mass Snare State Crowns

EAST LANSING (AP)—For the first time since 1950, the Upper Peninsula boasts two high school basketball champions in the same year.

Houghton (Class C) and Mass (Class D) climaxed brilliant seasons Saturday by winning state titles in Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse.

Houghton, the flashiest team in the finals, outlasted Wayland, 65-62, while Mass ran away from Ashley, 73-47, as Dale Blake and Ron Antila, a smooth-shooting center, made 23.

Antila Twisted Ankle
Antila may have equalled, or bettered, Blake's total, but he missed part of the first half with a twisted ankle.

In the other classes, Jackson hit 46 per cent of its shots to upset Benton Harbor, 74-61, for the Class A crown, and River Rouge kept its Class B crown with a 51-48 victory over Buchanan.

Houghton's victory over Wayland gave the Gremlins a perfect 23-0 record for the season. It made their 500-mile trip from Houghton well worth the effort.

In the waning minutes Wayland twice pulled to within a single point of Houghton, but the Gremlins refused to fold under the pressure. Instead, they passed the ball around in Globe Trotter fashion and Ralph Hurley and Mel Kananen broke away for last-second field goals to nail the victory.

Too Much For Ashley
Mass' one-two punch of Blake and Antila simply was too much for Ashley, which took a momentary lead of 23-22 in the second quarter, only to see Mass score the next 10 points and turn the game into a rout.

The last time the Upper Peninsula boasted two state champions was five years ago, when Ishpeming won the Class B crown and Brimley the Class D crown. Brimley, incidentally, scored 74 points in the 1950 title. Mass missed by one of tying that record Saturday.

Cage Tourney Is Jumbled Up

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Pan-American basketball tournament moved toward a triple tie and a playoff today all because a frenzied Brazil team arose from premature obscurity for a shocking upset of Argentina.

The United States, which had been marked off as a championship contender following its defeat by Argentina, was back in the thick of the race. The Americans can gain at least a share of the title by winning their remaining two games.

Brazil, a team that had lost by 20 points to the United States, beat Argentina 61-57 Sunday night in a startling reversal of form.

Argentina wasn't up to its showing against the United States, whom the Gauchos defeated 54-53.

Today Argentina and Brazil are tied for the lead in the tournament with the United States a half game back only because the U.S. has played one fewer game. The United States has Cuba and Venezuela left on the schedule. Brazil must meet Mexico and Argentina plays Cuba. If they win all those games a triple tie for the championship will result. Then there would be a round-robin playoff.

Southpaw Bill Werle, getting another major league chance with the Cincinnati Redlegs, showed remarkable control for Louisville in the American Assn. during 1954. In 97 innings he walked only eight men.

Tiger Rookie Outfielder Was Once Bonus Catcher

(J. W. Porter, 22, is one of the most heralded rookies in the American League. The new Detroit Tiger left fielder tells why he was shifted from catching and why Baltimore must pay part of his bonus for the next two years. The story was written especially for AP News-features.)

By J. W. PORTER
Detroit Outfielder

LAKELAND, Fla.—I never had a first name, possibly because I'm the youngest of six children and my folks ran out of names.

When I was 8 my folks moved from Shawnee, Okla., to Oakland, Calif. We settled down near the Oakland ball park and later I became the team's batboy. I saw Gene Bearden, Cleveland's play-off hero of 1948, pitch for Oakland before he went to the majors. When I came up to the St. Louis Browns in 1952 Bearden was my roommate.

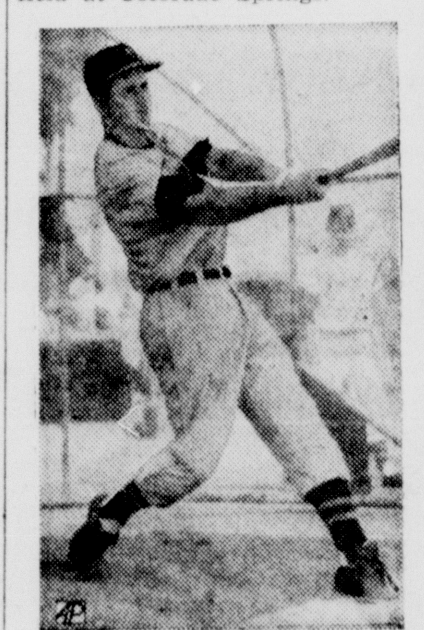

In 1949 and '50 I caught for the Oakland American Legion team and we won the national championship two years in a row. I owe a lot to Coach George Powles. He was like a father to all the Legion kids.

The Chicago White Sox signed me for a bonus ($60,000). It was a long-term arrangement. Then they traded me to the Browns (now the Orioles). Due to the intricacies of the bonus rule the Orioles now pay (about $8,000 a year) for two years to the commissioner's office and eventually it goes to me. And Baltimore has never seen me, nor have I ever seen Baltimore.

After hitting .302 in 117 games for Waterloo, Iowa in 1951 the White Sox sent me to Memphis. After 39 games and a .282 average as a catcher I was sent down from Double AA ball to Class A with Colorado Springs in the Western League.

I was disappointed to go down because I was doing fairly well as a Memphis catcher. Don Gutierrez, now a White Sox coach, one day said "hit one so I can remember you by." He wouldn't tell me why he said it. I thought I was going up with the White Sox. I kind of had it in the back of my mind that I was to be dealt because I was asked to play the outfield at Colorado Springs.

J. W. PORTER

It turned out that Bill Veeck, then running the St. Louis Browns, had a deal on the fire. I was to be dealt but he had Clint Courtney, a good rookie catcher that year, and he wanted to see if I could play the outfield. Well, at Colorado Springs I hit .340 in 66 games and in July of 1952 I went to the Browns in the deal for Jim Rivera. I hit .250 for St. Louis in 33 games and then went into the Army.

I was the manager of the Fort Ord team. We won the All-Army and All-Service championships in 1954. I played first base, third base, the outfield and did some catching. I hit 33 home runs, a camp record, and batted .403.

Before my Army call, the Browns dealt Owen Friend, Bob Nieman and myself to the Tigers for Johnny Groth, Virgil Trucks and Hal White.

My dad (Will Porter) was a semi-pro pitcher around Shawnee, Carl Hubbell's home town. He never got the chance to go high in baseball because he shot himself in the pitching arm in a hunting accident. Now he wants to see me make the grade as a big leaguer.

Sports Roundup

Walter Alston could find himself with a situation on his hands if his veteran Brooklyn players continue to confide to scribes their candid opinions of him as a not-so-dynamic leader.

After St. Louis out-zoomed Connecticut in the National Invitation Tournament, Billiken coach Eddie Hickey lamented, "The worst game we ever played." . . . all thought no St. Louis squad had ever before scored 110 points in a single game.

Some 35 years ago, an eager-eyed kid of 10 with nary a sou in his laded knickers hung around the ball park in Rochester, N. Y.—a park he'd never been in—when along came a Royal outfielder and said to the moppet, "How about it, kid? Wanna watch me play?" . . . And that's how Gabe Paul, the vice president and general manager and genius behind the reconstruction of the booming Cincinnati Reds, saw his first professional baseball game.

The player? Wid Matthews, now the personnel chief of the rival Chicago Cubs. . . . Gabe always was a man of enterprise—as the Royal batboy, he nailed down the teatop concession for all pitchers in the International League.

The Phillips Oilers, stepping up the pace to corral none-such basketball Tom Gola from the pros, are said to have promised him they're setting up a New York office in three years so he can continue to live in the East.

Know what pro basketball players do on their day off? Go to the Garden to watch the collegians . . . which is where we found Jim Pollard and Vern Mikkelsen and all the other Lakers, drawn by the magnet of Gola in an NCAA test . . . and more impressed by LaSalle ace's passing and quickness than any other phase of his game.

It's a steady ritual that every time the Lakers come to New York, the football Giants contact big Ed Kalafat in an attempt to swing him to pads and helmet as a pass-catching end.

What a champ eats for breakfast: a mound of corn flakes mixed with shredded wheat, sprinkled with a couple of fistful of strawberries, loaded down with oozing honey and doused with a pitcher of cream—Rocky Marciano's favorite dish.

Two weeks before Louisiana State announced Jim Corbett as its new athletic director for a five-year term, the personable ex-publicist had declined the job . . . and only relented when the Bayou boys met five demands he presented. . . . "Nothing to do for the next four years," grins Jim, "since our football schedule's finalized through 1958." . . . LSU grid coach Paul Dietzel was called by Sid Gillman "the finest college center I ever coached" when he played for the LA Rem boss at Miami of Ohio.

Between you'n'me, major league owners grumble that the March 1 deadline to start spring training doesn't give the players enough time to set in shape for the exhibition games . . . so who said they had to start booking games 10 days later? . . . (NEA Feature)

Many Advise Chiang To Gamble On Matsu And Quemoy Islands

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent
TAIPEI, Formosa — (NEA) — Will Chiang gamble on Matsu and Quemoy in the days just ahead? He'll have to make his decision very soon, for Peiping's ships, filled with Commie invaders, are crawling down the coast.

Defending these offshore islands will indeed be Chiang's supreme gamble. If he loses, he'll be only the aging boss of this grubby island with less population than New York. He won't have a shred of hope of returning to conquer mainland China.

By making a brave stand on Quemoy and Matsu, Chiang will be playing for big headlines in America — headlines he hopes will impress primarily one man: Dwight D. Eisenhower.

For the President alone has authority to order fleet air cover for the remaining offshore islands.

*****

If Chiang loses that gamble—

and we are not pledged to defend anything but Formosa and the Pescadores — he could take a terrible statistical licking.

Prior to recently announced reinforcement plans, there were 50,000 troops on Quemoy and perhaps 10,000 on Matsu. Huddled together on small rocky patches in the East China seas, they're suckers for Peiping's wave of swept-back MIGs, which can surely sweep the skies of the few jets the Nationalists own.

These troops are a tenth of Chiang's total manpower and perhaps a fourth of his best units. Remember, despite the inflow of Formosan farmboys, a sizeable percentage of the Nationalist army is beginning to creak with years.

I personally do not doubt the ability of the Quemoy and Matsu garrisons to make a daring stand. They know that if captured they'll have their bodies twisted and—if still alive — their brains washed.

*****

One group I saw going to Quemoy the other day had their chests tattooed with "Hate Communist" slogans violent enough to be banned by a family newspaper. They're former prisoners of war who served the Communists in Korea and after capture decided to come to Formosa and shun the Red paradise.

However, because he's operating under global floodlights in this show, Red Dictator Mao will surely pour it on Quemoy and Matsu.

Mao has the stuff. Bamboo rafts holding two or three men apiece will paddle to the beaches on the moonless nights ahead in a seaborne repetition of the human wave tactics often used with success against crack American troops in Korea.

Furthermore, Peiping has thousands of frogmen who could swim to the Quemoy beaches to further confuse and unnerve the defenders.

TWO ISLANDS, ONE BIG QUESTION: The decision will have to be quick, for the Commie invaders are crawling down the coast.

One of the strangest twists in this Oriental drama is that many Americans of the highest reputation are advising Chiang to roll the dice—for Matsu and Quemoy—or to face a dull, unimportant tomorrow.

These Americans represent those who feel communism has gone far enough in Asia. The Matsu and Quemoy issue is as good as any other to bring United States power down on Peiping.

But so far, under official U. S.

pressure, Chiang has always backed down as he did in the Tachens and at Nanchi. Collapsing Nationalist morale as the result of those evacuations is one item pressuring him to make the supreme gamble.

A Chinese official summed up the argument for the gamble in this sentence:

"If the garrisons fight alone, bravely, winning the attention and admiration of the world, could the United States let them die?"

Chiang ponders that question as he places the richly-carpeted floor of his GHQ.
